In the weekly journal „SRPSKI NARODNI LIST“ (SERBIAN PEOPLE'S NEWS-PAPER) No 12, October 2, 1835 printed in Budim (Hungary) there appeared the article „Kometi (repatе zvezde)“ (Comets, tailed stars), in which was announced the arrival of Halley's comet. This is the first article in Serbian on comets. It is 4 pages long (3 textual and one with illustrations). The pages are 19 × 26 cm. The text is written in the church-slavonic orthography. The author of this article is Teodor Pavlovich, (1805 – 1854) the redactor of the journal. He was a writer, journalist, and secretary of „Matica srpska“ (Serbian Mainstream).
