The Astronomical Society „Milutin Milanković“ was established in Zrenjanin at the beginning of 1996. At first the Association rallied about a hundred astronomy lovers and supporters, mostly students. A project was made immediately the water works tower in the suburb of the town to adapt for an astronomical observatory. It is estimated that the project will be realized in the next two years. The programme of the Society includes the cooperation with elementary and high schools and astronomical societies in the country and abroad.
