

EXAMPLES OF ARCHAEOASTRONOMY IN ARCHAEOLOGY OF CENTRAL BALKAN

A short review of the first astronomical knowledges usage in the prahistory of Central Balkan is only a confirmation of their existence and not their more complete knowledge. The first encounter with natural forces is submitted to its acting on life and necessities of first communities. The first connection with mechanics of celestial bodies, dayly and annual, is expressed not earlier than by populations of neolyte and eneolyte. Already in earlier iron age, religious belivings are systematized and enabled for their social mission. Finally, the jug from Pontes is a proove that once obtained primary knowledge about cosmos and external world of prahistoric people reach, through the long lasting layers of tradition and to the christianity.