

THE SURVEY OF THE MONOGRAPH

Dragoslav Stoiljković: “ROGER BOSCOVICH – founder of modern science”

Two and half centuries after publishing of Boscovich's Theory of natural philosophy only a small number of scientist is working in serious, epistemologically investigation of this master-piece of natural philosophy. Here we gave a survey of very qualitative monograph of Serbian author Dr Dragoslav Stoiljkovic, based mostly on the investigations of author itself. This book shows how useful can be a new consideration of capital works in science, in particular those which made important influence to contemporaries. Here we have the case of influence extended up to today.
